Street Theatre an Appealing Addition to Princeton Summer Scene

It's a new summer experience for Princeton. A kind of theatre-on-the-lawn, with stage, scenery, lights, actors and the strolling informality of a warm summer evening.

"Street Theatre," now an arm of the Princeton Recreation Department, will be presenting its three original one-act plays this weekend, meanwhile working toward the climax production of the summer season, a musical play for children due to open August 24.

The one-actors will be given on a schedule which starts this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., as the young actors unfold their trailer stage for the elderly residents of Lloyd Terrace.

This Thursday the street theatre's stage will wheel onto the lawn in front of Princeton High. On Friday, the arena will be Community Park field, near the paddle-tennis courts.

Saturday, the actors will drive their theatre to Van Ness Park in West Windsor, and on Sunday, they'll travel to Trenton for performances in Cadwallader Park. All shows are at 7:30.

If it rains any of these nights, go to the Borough Hall gym.

Actors in Street Theatre presentations are young: Middle School, High School, a bit into college. But the audiences range over the ages, and the older members aren't just actors' parents.

They stroll onto the grassy area in front of the trailer-stage, blankets over their arms. They come on bikes, too, and even in wheel-chairs. Sometimes, if they're just passing by and happen to notice there's a play going on, they'll rest the bike, to listen and watch.

Intermissions, there are apples for sale and a cool drink ("free, if you make a 15c contribution!") from the genial barefooted Street Theatre staff.

In Princeton, says Amie Brockway, who founded Street Theatre, audiences are reserved. In Trenton, they are less inhibited, more open and exuberant in their laughter, more responsive to the play and frequently in the mood to make delighted comments to the actors. About three-quarters of the Trenton audience is usually black.

"You get the feeling they're there to have fun," smiles Mrs. Brockway.

In Princeton, audiences reflect the neighborhood, lots of kids at Community Park, more adults at a recent performance on the Borough Hall lawn.

Younger children like to "help" set up complex Street Theatre equipment... once a dog knocked over the projection machine and broke it... there won't be any more performances on the Borough Hall lawn: too much traffic noise... rain is a problem, chiefly because Street Theatre has a lot of electrical equipment which can't be safely handled, if its wet.

The most recent play, "Beginnings," was a humorous tale about The Creation, with lots of work for the tech. staff ("let there be light!") This week-end's originals include a six-minute "absurdity," a comedy about the Titanic, and a play which, like Street Theatre itself, is a comment about today's young.

Council Topics: Noise, Safety, Abandoned Cars, Longer Bar Hours

Traffic and safe streets, noise and the friendly neighborhood bar, the junk heap parked in somebody's yard and the behavior of the Governor's guests.

All these occupied Borough Council Tuesday night, and the citizens who came to Borough Hall to express their views.

Noise at Gym? A contingent of eight residents of Boudinot Street politely questioned and protested, on grounds of noise and traffic, the forthcoming use of the old Miss Fine's School gym, now known as the Borough Hall gym, by Princeton's Joint Recreation Commission.

"As a recreation center, the gym will have music and dancing and will be very objectional," stated Miss Elizabeth McLaren, 19 Boudinot. "It may well lower property values for us."

Mayor Robert W. Cawley—who promised introduction of a new anti-noise ordinance next month—said he didn't think the Recreation Commission had dances in mind so much as basketball, badminton and probably some meetings and theatre presentations.

He suggested that use of the gym wouldn't be much different from what it was when Miss Fine's young ladies were there, "except that the sex will be different."

Legality Questioned. Neighbors asked whether it was legal to use the gym in this way, and municipal attorney Gordon Griffin said he'd find out.

Mayor Cawley said the Recreation Commission has no definite plans yet about use of the gym. Projects will be discussed at a meeting to be held September 19, he said.

The next public meeting of the Recreation Commission is next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Township Hall and Councilman Charles Cornforth suggested that the Boudinot Street residents show up and present their case.

When Miss McLaren asked why YMCA facilities couldn't be used instead, Mayor Cawley replied.

"This Borough gym wasn't torn down when the new Borough Hall was built because it was a community resource. We feel an obligation to see that it is used. There is a need in the community, and we ask all citizens to recognize this need and support us."

"Some compromise can be reached," he added. "The Recreation Board, in other parts of town, has leaned over backwards to make sure lights and noise didn't bother neighbors."

His Honor. Now, about the Governor...

"Morven," the Governor's mansion, is also the source for a lot of noise, Boudinot residents told Council. Music, parties, even political speeches carry loud and clear onto Boudinot Street.

Residents claimed that Borough police say they have no jurisdiction. But Police Chief Michael F. Carnevale said his men had always informed "Morven" and indeed Governor William Cahill himself (and his predecessors: the noise is historic and non-partisan) of any complaints.

This Is Princeton

"Troopers will go into the tent and tell the Governor of the complaint and an attempt at noise control is made," the chief declared.

The residents seemed unconvinced.

Safety on Borough streets, particularly Chestnut, Pine, Spruce, John and Avalon came along next. The discussions took on a political air, since the question was raised Tuesday night by Democratic Council candidate Robert Powell, who with his running mate Barbara Sigmund, had previously issued a statement to the press.

So had Democratic Councilman Martin Lombardo, who proposes a special Council subcommittee to handle all traffic matters in the Borough. It would consist of police, citizens and a representative from the engineering department.

Mr. Powell, who lives on Chestnut, told Council that the street is a speedway for cars going north toward Westminster Choir College, the high school, John Witherspoon School and Valley Road.

He suggested spot-checking speeders by assigning to Chestnut an occasional traffic policeman, in the hope of holding drivers to the 25 m.p.h. limit. He also proposed construction of bumps or dips to hold motorists back, but he was told these are illegal in New Jersey.

When he suggested a four-way stop sign at Chestnut and Spruce, he was told that's illegal, too, but Councilman Thomas Cawley thumbed through a state manual and said no, it was now allowed.

Heavy Use Is Cited. Pine Street residents said they endured heavy traffic from trucks headed to the Nassau Interiors' warehouse and from customers leaving the two restaurants and bar around the Pine corner on Nassau.

A petition from Pine residents asking a speed reduction to 15 m.p.h. will be presented, one resident said.

Chief Carnevale agreed with Mr. Powell that speeding was a problem on Chestnut, and he added Linden Lane to the list.

Replying to a query from Joann Stephenson, Clay Street, Chief Carnevale said he'd surveyed the Avalon-John intersection and found it "extremely hazardous" even though only one automobile accident and no pedestrian casualties had occurred there.

He proposed moving the cross-walk farther east on Avalon, setting up a bigger warning sign, and allowing right turns only, for cars northbound on Chambers during rush-hours.

Mayor Cawley defended the present Traffic Safety Committee to Mr. Lombardo, citing solution of problems on Edwards Place and Bank Street, and installation of a Harrison Street cross-walk at the Lloyd Terrace project.

It was agreed that the streets should be referred to the Traffic Safety Committee, and the state petitioned for a reduction of the speed limits.

Longer Bar Hours. Council introduced several ordinances, all with public hearings Tuesday, September 11.

One would let bars stay open until 2 a.m. (they now must close at midnight) and would also allow them to serve liquor on Sundays between noon and 9 p.m.

At present, liquor may be served on Sundays only if food is served, too. This limits customers to restaurants, and forces bars to close.

The new proposal would also allow liquor stores to sell beer on Sundays -- but "malt beverages" only -- between noon and 9.

A quirk in the ordinance says the customer has to gulp down the last of his drink at the stroke of 2 a.m.; no sitting around for another hour, nursing that last drop.

"We haven't any pre-conceived ideas about this bar ordinance," the mayor told the audience. "We want people to come and tell us what they think."

Under the new abandoned-car ordinance, you can't leave an old heap or its parts on either private or public property. The measure allows you to leave a car in an "enclosed garage" -- but not in an open, visible, car-pot.

Council also introduced an ordinance providing $10,000 for improving the piece of Farr property that will enlarge the Tulane Street parking lot by 18 spaces. Councilman Joseph Moore voted "no."

"It's just too expensive," he explained. "We paid $44,000 for the land, and this makes $54,000 -- that's $3,000 per parking space!"

University to Close Access Roads (Briefly)

Effective 12:01 a.m. Saturday, and continuing for a 24-hour period until 12:01 a.m. Sunday, all access roads leading to that part of the main Princeton University Campus bounded by Washington Road, Prospect Avenue, Fitz Randolph Road and Lake Carnegie will be closed to all through traffic.

During this period the following entrances to the campus will be closed:

1. Faculty Road at Washington Road.
2. Western Way at Washington Road (i.e. between Jadwin Physics and the Armory.)
3. Ivy Lane at Washington Road.
4. Roper Lane at Prospect Avenue.
5. Western Way at Fitz Randolph Road.
6. Faculty Road at Fitz Randolph Road.

This 24-hour closing of the above-listed roads is being done in accordance with New Jersey statutes bearing upon the ownership of privately maintained arteries. They stipulate that roads which remain open as public thoroughfares without restriction for a period of 20 years may not thereafter be considered private property.

New Police Chief to Work for Improved Community Relations

We're making some plans for the future," Borough Police Chief Michael Carnevale said Tuesday of his "interesting first week" in office.

"We're not thinking of day-to-day, but we are really projecting ahead. The prime area—police-community relations—is first and foremost in my mind right now."

Chief Carnevale maintained long hours and a low profile during his years as the Borough's lieutenant. The nine-to-ten hour days continued last week as reports were prepared for the Borough Council meeting, planning sessions were held, the study on traffic con-control at Avalon and Chambers Street completed.

"We have to be doing things to improve our image," he said, "and that effort comes from within the department. And we have to do it on a daily basis," he added firmly.

"If we have ten percent of the community who are non-believers in the police and are not responsive . . . this is an area we have to work on."

Goals within Range. The chief believes that the police department is structured in such a way that "we can accomplish a lot of our goals—more so than any other segment of society. We have rules and regulations that govern acts. I don't know that any other segment has this."

"What I think is unfortunate is that all the social injustices of which so many people become victims are done by all forms of government. By government I mean the whole gamut; the minorities are just not getting a fair shake in job opportunities, education, anything else. The only ones they can strike out against is the uniformed man. He is visible, constantly present."

Changes Planned. The police

TENANTS ORGANIZE

At Kingston Terrace, The tenants at Kingston Terrace Apartments, Route 27, South Brunswick Township, have formed a tenant's rights group in order to discuss various tenants' grievances with the owners of the apartment complex, the Sandean Construction Co.

Approximately 50 per cent of the tenants in this complex have also joined the New Jersey Tenant's Rights Association with headquarters in Cranbury.

This organization, with over 3200 members, has as its goal the equitable treatment of tenants in apartment complexes and attempts to ensure landlord compliance with regulations governing rent increases and apartment maintenance. Ultimately, the group seeks to modify rental laws and leases that deprive tenants of their rights.

The group held a successful picnic last Sunday, and more social as well as business activities are planned for the remainder of the year.

A meeting with the landlord was scheduled for this Wednesday, August 9, during which various aspects of building safety and maintenance will be discussed. The results of the meeting will be passed on to all tenants in the complex by means of building representatives and a newsletter.

department is discussing plans and policies in several areas, he said, for introduction in the coming year. As to internal changes, "Unfortunately, the public never sees them. . . changes are constant, and they are good changes. The people will benefit from them."

Returning to his first and foremost project, as he termed police-community relations, he said:

"I don't see that our goal is an impossible task, once people know we are responsive, that we treat all segments of the community equally."

End of an Era: Western Union Closing Here

The chatter of the teleprinters will sigh into a permanent silence this Thursday night at 11 and Princeton's Western Union office at 29 Witherspoon will go into history.

After that witching hour, anybody who wants to send a wire by telephone must call Moorestown, N. J., and anyone with a money order or a message to be delivered will go to the Princeton Telephone Answering Service on the corner of Nassau and Charlton.

Martin Liples

The order to close down Princeton's Western Union office came in July from the Federal Communications Commission and its most poignant effects are felt, not by the abandoned customers, but by Martin Liples who has been with Western Union 44 years and in charge of the Princeton office for 20.

"It's hard to take," he says, "but the business is drying up and I wouldn't want to stay in it. I've got five weeks' vacation time, plus a week I have to put in, and when I quit, it will be October 18 — exactly 44 years to the day from the October 18, 1928, when I started with Western Union."

Another job, of some kind, he shrugs when asked about his future.

Sports Coverage Heavy. In the busy, hustling days of Western Union, Mr. Liples used to carry a suitcase-sized teleprinter to sports events.

"It was a 2-B teleprinter, and we took it to baseball at University Field, or down to Carnegie Lake for crew . . .

TOPICS Of The Town

Sky-Rocketing Rates. Why the close-down for Princeton? "Rates, for one thing," he says. "It costs $5.25 for a 15-word telegram, delivered. Now, do you know anybody you'd pay $5.25 to say 'Happy Birthday' to? For anything else, the telephone is quicker and cheaper."

Business firms now have Western Union's Telex or TWX, either of which can use the Mailgram that sends 100 words at $1.65, delivered by the post office the next morning.

"You have Telex in your office, all you do is dial," he says, "but I think the Princeton office should have stayed open, at least for the eight daylight hours. Private individuals here do send wires, often on weekends. The University is here, things are always happening . . ."

COME TO TOWNSHIP HALL For Zoning Talks. Township residents are invited to Township Hall Monday at 8 p.m. to talk with the Township's own planning board about proposed changes in the zoning law.

The most radical changes suggested by the board would for the first time, allow a Township home-owner to remodel his house to accommodate a small flat. Also for the first time, if the ordinance is passed, it will be legal for Township residents to take in roomers.

A flat would have to have living and sleeping space, cooking facilities and a complete bathroom. It could, says the planning board, bring in enough rent to pay the taxes and allow a family to remain in Princeton when otherwise its members might be forced by high costs to move away.

Remodeling Easier. The new ordinance also liberalizes the rules for remodeling houses that were built before the current zoning law was passed. Until now, these houses have been frozen within their existing walls because they are technically too large for the lot size.

If the new measure passes, a home-owner can enclose a terrace or convert an attic into living space without having to get a variance.

Monday night's discussion is not a formal, legal public hearing. It is the first of two discussions with Township residents. The second will be held Monday, September 11 and if there is need for a third, that will be scheduled, too.

The formal public hearing before Township Committee will be Monday, October 2.

Omnibus Measure. The new ordinance is actually a package, a comprehensive catch-all measure which includes not only the proposed changes in residential districts, but also changes in the Educational, Office Research, Service and Business zones.

beat Dewey in '48," he smiles. "Gallup used to get his election reports the week before election day. But since that 1948 election when everybody thought Dewey had won, he's gotten 300 wires the Friday and Saturday before election day instead.

"Then, on Sunday, he'd come in with his predictions and percentages and text and we'd file it to the computer in New York. We'd already done the addresses ahead of time. Wonder what he'll do . . ."

A "Book" of 32,000. The big one, for Princeton's Western Union was in 1966 when the Princeton office sent 32,000 telegrams in one week for Educational Testing Service.

"They'd warned us it would be 50,000, but it turned out to be 32,000. We had 12 people in here, working away and dropping like flies! In the end, it was just two of us and we worked from 7:30 Saturday morning until 7:30 that Sunday night, getting them all out."

Western Union used to be on the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon, where the bus terminal now is. In 1965, it moved on down Witherspoon to its present, and last, resting place.

"In the basement of that old place, they had old Morse 'bugs,' we used to call them. Probably thrown out, but I'll bet they'd be valuable now."

The present office has a bank of Intrafax machines. "Used to have 30 Intrafax customers," Mr. Liples shakes his head, "down to nine now, and they've got to go. Everybody went to Telex or TWX." He waves his hand at all the machines, "these'll go into storage, I guess, or junk."

The Western Union office has a lease with Lawrence Benson, owner of the building at 29 Witherspoon, and it has two more years to go.

Mr. Liples doesn't know who will move in. All he knows is, he and Western Union are moving out.

"You might say we're going down to the last wire." The smile is wan.

Plumbers! Electricians! It will save the town "thousands of dollars," says Borough Councilman Martin P. Lombardo, if plumbers and electricians will volunteer their services to restore the plumbing and electrical system of the Borough Hall gym.

He issued a plea this week, asking plumbers and electricians to follow the lead of R. F. ("Rube") Johnson, who has already offered the services of his electrical contracting firm. The town will buy all the materials, Mr. Lombardo explained.

The gym, badly damaged by fire, cannot be used until the two vital utilities have been brought back to life. Borough Council recently turned the building over to the Joint Recreation Commission, which will develop a year-round program based at the gym.

Contractors who are interested are asked to call Borough Hall, 924-3118, or Recreation Director Donald Barr, 924-9480.

The loss was reported to Township police on Thursday morning by Pat Haskin, who has been serving as house sifter, and was away from the house from 8:30 p.m. last Wednesday until 1 a.m. Thursday. The window had been left open for the cat.

Four tennis rackets and about 30 balls were reported stolen last week by Andrew Springour of North Hill, Westminster Choir College. He told Borough police that his car had been parked at the Spear Library lot from 5 p.m. July 27 to 5 p.m. July 30, and that someone had unlocked the

With Stolen Property Possession. Two Trenton men have been charged with possession of stolen property and a deadly weapon by Borough Police following their arrest last Friday evening on Nassau Street.

Frederick Williams, 21, and Robert Berry, 31, had their car stopped by Det. Tom Michael and Ptl. Arthur Jackson, who were acting on a report by a Nassau Street merchant. Some $90 worth of goods including sweaters and 10 rolls of film allegedly taken from Williams is charged with possession of stolen property and is out on $150 bail. Berry is charged with possession of stolen property and a deadly weapon and is out on $500 bail. Police said Berry tried to hide a large knife under the front seat when the car was halted.

A third man was believed to have been in the car before it was stopped, but police have no information on him. A hearing has been set for Wednesday, August 16 in Borough Court.

GROWTH IN ROCKY HILL

750 Apartments Planned. A 140-acre complex in Rocky Hill, with 750 apartments and townhouses, plus offices and shopping areas was scheduled for hearing Tuesday night before the town's zoning board.

The Changing Scene

Once we grumbled

At the rain —

Now, we hope

It comes again.

Weather goes in cycles, and from far too much precipitation during the spring, we are now in a prolonged dry spell. It's too early, fortunately, to use the word drought.

Showers are forecast, but rarely materialize. They were on the weather map for Wednesday, but little or no rainfall is in sight thereafter. It's time for summer recreation, but no good for all that is trying to grow and keep green around us.

Landmark Development Corporation is the developer. The site, owned by Princeton Site Research Corporation, extends behind Princeton Research Park, which is across Route 206 from the airport. One long side of the parcel is parallel to Princeton Avenue and the other is behind the houses on the south side of Washington Street.

Melvyn Toomey, president of Landmark, proposes 97 high-density, moderate income apartments; 345 middle-income apartments; 195 luxury units and 113 townhouses.

About 285,000 square feet of office space in a 23.5-acre "office park" will be ready for occupancy in five to eight years, Mr. Toomey has said. He plans to connect his complex to Route 206 by a four-lane road.

Setback variances will be needed for office buildings, although they are a permitted use in the zone. Variances are also needed to build residential units in the research zone.

COUPLE CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Philip A. Parmet, 30, and his wife, Barbara, 29, of 189 S. Harrison Street were arrested and charged with the possession of marijuana on Tuesday, August 1, by Township police. Detectives Samuel Bianco, Anthony Pinelli and Frank Bocanuso entered the Parmet residence at 1:30 p.m. with a search warrant. They confiscated "three-quarters of a pound of marijuana," Detective Pinelli said.

Mr. Parmet, a cinematographer, and his wife, a student, were released on $250 bail set by Judge Burton Peskin. A preliminary court hearing is set for September 6.

SHOELACE IS CAUSE

Of Two 3-Car Pile-Ups. Bella Rengano, 56, of Palisades Park, was driving north on Washington Road Thursday at 1:18 p.m. with her shoelace untied.

She saw two cars ahead of her stopped for the light at Faculty Road, and in braking, her shoelace became entangled in the pedal, according to her account to Township police. Her foot slipped off the pedal and her car struck the rear of the car of Richard D. Law, 24, of Robbinsville, with considerable damage. Mr. Law then hit the rear of the pick-up truck of Harold R. Voelbel Jr., 44, of Morrison Avenue, Hightstown.

Thereupon, three drivers also going north on Washington Road passed the accident immediately after it happened and had a three-car pile-up themselves just beyond Faculty Road.

Ben DeLorenzo, 43, of 12 Cresthill Road, Trenton, was driving slowly past the accident, he said, when he was hit from behind by Allan J. Leonard, 26, of Irvington. Mr. Leonard had been propelled forward by Wayne T. Wright, 23, of Newark, Del., in third car. He told police he failed to stop quickly enough to avoid hitting Mr. Leonard.

Mr. Wright's car was towed away, and he was charged with careless driving.

All three drivers, police reported, were rubber-necking at the first accident.

Learning to Swim Can Be Triumph for a Child

Learning to swim is a routine summer activity for most boys and girls but for five autistic children in the Princeton Child Development Institute, it's a profound and tremendous accomplishment.

The children, ranging from six to 11 years in age, have severe functional disorders. They learned to swim during a six-week program at the Community Swimming Pool, spending one hour at the pool four days each week.

Swimming is important, explains David Holmes, director of the Institute, because in swimming you are aware of every part of your body and how it works. Frequently these children are totally unaware of their bodies.

Even more important, learning to swim boosts the ego. The child realizes that he can accomplish something. This, in turn, means he can help dress himself, and may not need any longer to have someone dress him.

Proper Procedure. Following Mr. Holmes' philosophy, the Institute believes that an autistic child must be "prodded." Some institutions simply care for the child, Mr. Holmes says, but here, a child is not allowed merely to splash in the swimming pool. He is taught — even though the very approach of the instructor makes him scream.

"If you let a child do his own thing, so to speak, he will simply withdraw totally into his own world," the director continues. "You must lead him out, and teaching him to swim is a wonderful way to do it. Our program was a fantastic success! The kids all learned to swim — well, to dog-paddle — and they can all swim now from one rope to another!"

One little girl, with severely rigid spastic muscles, not only learned to dog-paddle, but became so fond of the water that she would duck underwater, remain as long as her breath would hold, pop joyously to the surface for a gulp of air and go back down again. Other young swimmers at Community Park were hospitable and understanding, Mr. Holmes says. Behavior of autistic children is not at all social, and is characterized by constant screaming. But other children were friendly and there were no problems, he says.

Jack Roberts, Princeton's Assistant Recreation Director, says, "You've never seen real joy on a kid's face until you see the glow — really a glow! — these kids have when they finally learn to swim. I've never seen anything like it."

"We are really grateful to the Community Pool — they didn't have to do this for us, and it meant a wonderful chance for the kids," Mr. Holmes says.

He hopes he can continue his program at the YM-YWCA pool, fitting his half-dozen youngsters into whatever hours the "Y" can find.

TWO ARE INJURED

In Traffic Accidents, David Schryer, 7, of 58 Leigh Avenue rode his bicycle from the Leigh Avenue sidewalk into the street at 5:42 p.m. Thursday and struck a passing car, driven by Barbara L. Williams, 21, of Skillman.

He was taken to Princeton Medical Center and treated for lacerations of the right leg, bruises and abrasions of the right arm and chin, and then was released. A playmate, Ernie Rapp, 6, of 96 Leigh Avenue, was a witness.

Township police found no improper driving indicated. The Wright car sustained damage on the right side of the front fender.

Sandy P. Procaccini, 24, of 91 Harris Road, was injured about 9:45 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of Valley Road and Witherspoon Street when his car was struck by an automobile operated by Catherine B. Johanson, 56, of Chapel Hill, N.C.

Township police charged Mrs. Johanson with failure to halt at the stop sign. Mr. Procaccini was taken to Princeton Medical Center by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. He was treated for contusions of the head and released. Both cars were damaged.

TWO ARE HELD

For Grand Jury, Danford A. Cruser, 25, of 219 Nassau Street, and Cynthia H. Tukey, 20, of 10 Norchester Drive, Princeton Junction, were held for the grand jury after a hearing Thursday before Borough Municipal Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. They are charged by Det. Anthony Rantone with the possession of heroin and drug paraphernalia. Bail was set at $400.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of Heather Goade, 20, no known address, charged with trespass, and for the arrest of Ramos Cruz, 39, of 9 Lincoln Court, charged with being under the influence of alcohol. Neither defendant had appeared for the court session.

Vincent Dula, of 184 Witherspoon Street was fined $20 plus $30 court costs for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Judge Tams announced he would rest decision of the charges of sexual assault against Bienvenido Leon, 32, of 39 North Stockton Street, Trenton, for approximately two weeks.

Hearing of the counter charges of assault by Douglas Griggs, 23, of 216 Witherspoon Street, and Mark Williams, 57, of 47 Chestnut Street was adjourned until August 19.

TWO SPEEDERS FINED

In Traffic Court, Barry D. Merritt, 21, of 22 Heathcote Road, Kingston, was fined $28 in Township Municipal Court for speeding on the Princeton-Kingston Road. He was going 73 mph in a 45 mph zone.

Judge Burton Peskin also fined Floyd R. Merrill, 19, of Old Schoolhouse Road, Kingston, $7 for speeding 52 mph in a 45 mph zone.

Robert J. Moore, 21, of 815 Mt. Lucas Road, paid $10 for failing to yield at a stop sign on Valley Road. Albert B. Pullen, 44, of Lincoln Highway, charged with careless driving on North Harrison Street, was fined $10.

THREE ARRESTED

On Nassau Street. Two adults and a juvenile were arrested on Nassau Street by Borough police last Wednesday.

Peter R. Field, 18, of Witter Court and a 14-year-old girl were charged with possession of alcoholic beverages. Gary W. Marshall, 19, of Clay Street, was charged with the possession of marijuana.

There will be a hearing for the adults on August 16 in Borough Municipal Court. The girl was referred to juvenile authorities.

MAN IS ASSAULTED

Near Shopping Center, Jorge Rivera, 22, of 19 Humbert Street, reported to Township police that he was attacked by two young black males around midnight Friday at the corner of North Harrison Street and Clearview Avenue. Mr. Rivera told police that the men "stated they were Black Panthers and wanted money." When he said he had no money, one suspect hit him in the face with his fist and knocked him to the ground.

The victim reported that the assailants took his key ring with his car and house keys on it, but not his wallet.

SHRIVER BACKED

By Hughes, Martindell. Two leading New Jersey Democrats, praised Senator George McGovern's selection of B. Sargent Shriver as the Vice-Presidential nominee of the Democratic Party.

Former Governor Richard Hughes of Princeton called the choice "wonderful." Commenting on Shriver's work with the Peace Corps and as Ambassador of France, Governor Hughes said, "Sargent Shriver represents the great American tradition of devotion to country, typifying the best of America's virtues... An excellent selection!"

"Shriver is a perfect choice," declared Mrs. Anne Martindell, Vice-Chairwoman of the New Jersey State Democratic Committee and Co-Chairwoman of New Jersey Citizens for McGovern. Asserting that the "magic of the Kennedy name and family will greatly strengthen our resources, in terms of personnel and talent," Mrs. Martindell added that she has found Shriver to be a "strong campaigner, a good speaker, and a man well-liked in New Jersey. The Democratic ticket boasts two men of recognized ability and compassion; the Nixon-Knew machine will find these attributes unbeatable."

FIVE ARE HONORED

Named Bicentennial Preceptors, Five Assistant Professors

at Princeton University, ranging in age from 29 to 41, have been appointed to three-year terms as Bicentennial Preceptors, distinctive positions created to "help young faculty members of high promise through a critical phase of their careers as teacher-scholars."

The Preceptorships, announced by President William G. Bowen, who served as Jonathan Dickinson Preceptor a decade ago, carry a salary higher than the average for the rank of Assistant Professor, afford $500 a year additional for research expenses and provide a one-year leave of absence, during the three-year tenure, for the furtherance of the incumbent's own scholarship.

Three of the Preceptorships announced today bear the names of men who in the 18th century shaped Princeton's methods of instruction and helped develop its reputation as a "Seminary of Statesmen," while two of the five were established on the 20th anniversaries of their graduation from Princeton by the Classes of 1931 and 1936.

The five newly named Bicentennial Preceptors, together with titles, departments of instruction, degrees and home addresses, follow:

Clark Glynour, 29-year-old native of San Gabriel, Calif., William Paterson Preceptor, Assistant Professor of Philosophy, who joined Princeton's Faculty in 1969; B.A., University of New Mexico, 1964; M.A. and Ph.D., Indiana University, 1967 and 1969, respectively; 23 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell.

Jean L. Macary, 41-year-old native of Paris, France, Richard Stockton Preceptor, Assistant Professor of Romance Languages and Literatures, who joined Princeton's Faculty in 1969; Licence, University of Paris, 1954; Agregation, University of Paris, 1962; 7-V Maple Apartments.

Uwe E. Reinhardt, 31-year-old native of Osnabrueck, Germany, Princeton Class of 1931 Preceptor, Assistant Professor of Economics, who joined Princeton's Faculty in 1968; A.B., University of Saskatchewan, 1964; M.A. and Ph.D., Yale University, 1965 and 1970, respectively; 13 Piedmont Drive, Cranbury.

Gilbert F. Rozman, 29-year-old native of Minneapolis, Minn., Princeton Class of 1936 Preceptor, Assistant Professor of Sociology, who joined the Princeton Faculty in 1970; 1965, B.A., Carleton College; Ph.D., Princeton, 1971; 3-U Maple Apartments.

Richard J. Schrader, 30-year-old native of Canton, Ohio, John Witherspoon Preceptor, Assistant Professor of English, who joined Princeton's Faculty in 1968; B.A., Notre Dame University, 1963; M.A. and Ph.D., Ohio State University, 1965 and 1968, respectively; 50 Wilton Street.

STUDY FINDS NO BIAS

In Some Employment Tests.

A comprehensive six-year study of racial bias in written employment tests has revealed that carefully selected tests predict job performance fairly for members of varied ethnic groups — Caucasians, Blacks, and Mexican-Americans.

The study, which examines three skilled occupations, points out that extreme care must be taken in selecting predictive tests and in assessing job performance if unbiased results are to be obtained.

"One key objective of this study from the outset was to explore the real facts behind the oft-expressed belief that tests are biased against minority groups," said Educational Testing Service (ETS) psychologist Dr. Joel T. Campbell. "Six years later, we found that belief was wrong. If you define bias as meaning the scores are unrealistically low in relation to performance on the job."

Millions of people take pre-employment exams each year as part of hiring practices in government and industry. But, critics have long contended that, because of inherent bias, the exams discriminate against minority groups and keep them out of jobs they could adequately perform.

Dr. Campbell directed the joint ETS-U.S. Civil Service Commission study and found that persons who do poorly on job-related tests, regardless of race, don't do well at work either. Likewise, a good test score was reflected in good job performance.

Dr. Campbell stressed that the study does not indicate why the situation exists. "The educational and social background that can adversely affect test performance may also affect job performance. Now we must learn how and why this situation develops and work to improve it," he said.

Conducted with a Ford Foundation grant, the project was based on studies of 1,400 government workers — medical technicians, cartographic technicians, and inventory management specialists.

DEAN MATHEY HONORED
Housing Named for Him. Princeton University has announced that its newest complex of faculty housing, the 27-unit Hartley Avenue Apartments, has been named Dean Mathey Court in memory of Princeton University faculty housing, the 27-unit Hartley Avenue Apartments, has been named Dean Mathey Court. A long-time resident of Princeton, Mr. Mathey was a major benefactor of a number of community institutions and service organizations. Story, this page.

Mr. Mathey, Princeton 1912, a Trustee of Princeton for 34 years and Honorary Chairman of the Bank of New York. He died April at 81.

First occupied in 1969, these modern town-house type apartments are for senior faculty and staff and are located about a half-mile from the center of the University campus, on a tract sloping towards Lake Carnegie just north of the University's lakeside housing.

In a published eulogy to Mr. Mathey, a long-time resident of Princeton and a major benefactor of a number of community institutions and service organizations, President Emeritus Robert F. Goheen recalled that while Mr. Mathey "was a leading member of the Trustee Committee on Finance under whose astute leadership the University's Resources increased very substantially, his first love as a Trustee was the Committee on Grounds and Buildings."

Dr. Goheen went on to say: "He gave countless hours to every phase of the Committee's work with unfailing concern for the preservation of the beauty and, in his words, 'the human feel' of the Princeton Campus. Perhaps his most consistently felt and generously shown — interest was in the development of faculty housing, which he regarded as of highest importance for the welfare and strengthening of those individuals and their families who carry forward the University's educational mission."

Preferred No Publicity. "How much he did by generous gifts, as well as by wise judgment, in this area of the University's needs is little known, for he preferred not to take the credit; but I can tell you it was very large," Dr. Goheen stated.

Mr. Mathey, a nationally-ranked tennis player after his graduation from Princeton with Phi Beta Kappa honors, followed his father, Louis A. Mathey, into Wall Street. His first employer was Wm. A. Read & Co., and, except for World War I Army service and a term of teaching at Princeton Preparatory School, he remained with this investment firm and its successor firm, Dillon, Read & Co., until 1945.

In 1945 he retired as a partner of Dillon, Read to enter upon 21 years as Chairman of the Board of the Empire Trust Company, where his leadership, it was recalled, "was a key ingredient in achieving the position of high regard that the bank held, particularly in its investment operations." Empire Trust merged with the Bank of New York in 1966 and, from 1966 until his death April 16, 1972, Mr. Mathey served as Honorary Chairman of the Bank of New York.

His many interests included the Princeton Day Schools, the Y.M.C.A., the Princeton Club of New York, The Phi Beta Kappa Associates, the Davis Cup Committee, the Salvation Army and the Pretty Brook Club.

Environmental Notes

A massive, mile wide ridge of rock parallels the northern boundary of Princeton Township. The ridge is formed from igneous diabase rock, which is dark grey-to-black in color, and of medium texture. Most of the ridge is tree-covered and has remained so for historical reasons. The early farm settlers, who were land wise, recognized the limitations of the area. In many places the soils are extremely shallow, often they are heavy and wet. The steep slopes and many boulders indicated that the most effective use of the ridge was as woodlot.

Until the present time the ridge has been undeveloped. The steep, rocky, wet conditions have made construction difficult and expensive. Generally septic tanks do not work there and most wells yield little water. When trees are cleared, the shallow, fine soils erode easily. The sloping surfaces of the ridge if covered with roofs or pavement, may cause downstream flooding through rapid runoff of surface water into the streams below (Van Horns Brook, Harry's Brook, Stony Brook). This in turn can lead to further erosion and flooding in the tributaries of the brooks.

Careful planning and proper construction can minimize this damage. Currently, the ridge contributes to Princeton's air-shed, and scenic beauty. For a close look at part of the ridge, and a cooling walk, visit Woodfield Reservation, Herrontown Woods, or Autumn Hill Reservation. The Public Library has guide maps to these Open Spaces.

Let's Keep Princeton Different.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
In last week's Mailbox, the manager of a local softball League team bemoans an ordinance prohibiting alcoholic beverage at Community Park, and asks "What makes Princeton so different?" If the prohibition of beer-drinking on school grounds and in public parks which serve as vacation playgrounds for our children makes Princeton unique, it is a "difference" to be proud of rather than otherwise.
Many policies that have helped to safeguard Princeton's unique character in the past are now being challenged, as in the case of multiple housing controversy. When zoning laws were more strictly honored than they are at present, this community was able to maintain a relatively stable population growth, and to avoid some of the problems of urbanization. I agree with the League of Women Voters' concern over the recent tendency of our governing bodies to "zone by variance."

In last week's paper, a real-estate broker is quoted as saying that "the demand for apartments is insatiable" and that if we accede to this demand, the population of Princeton could easily be doubled in five years. My reaction to this statement is, "Why double the population?" Most Princeton residents are in favor of protecting our small-town atmosphere, and are willing to pay for the privilege of living in a community that is "different" from more rapidly growing neighbors such as New Brunswick, Trenton, etc.

Let's Hear It for Ivy Inn.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The recent controversy about alcohol in Community Park has prompted me to respond. In the August 3 TOWN TOPICS, two letters to the editor indicated that the Ivy Inn softball team was the chief culprit. Both of these letters defended the Ivy Inn, and this letter supports them.
My son, Joseph Lapsley, has been for the past two years the bat boy for the Ivy Inn softball team. Joe is 11 years old.

During his association with the Ivy Inn team he has never been subjected to any kind of influence which would impede his development as a person. He has accompanied the team on several out of town contests, and they have always brought him home as promptly as they could. He has certainly never been asked to have a beer (which one might easily imagine would happen in such circumstances).

I regard his association with these young men as a good thing for him. One of the hardest things in our society is for young persons to identify with adults, who often work in offices and behind closed doors. I number myself among these adults.
The young men of the Ivy Inn, on the contrary, are highly visible. They are not perfect (as no one is), but they are full of energy and excitement of life. I am glad that

Want to Get Involved?
To the Editor of Town Topics:
"I don't have anything to do!" How many times have you heard that phrase or said it yourself?

An agency is being formed to help those of you who want to learn about the opportunities open to you and your family, whether they are volunteer jobs, organizational movements, or recreational events.

This agency hides under the name, "Community Center" and is known to very few Princetonians outside the basement of the Dorothea House, where the Center is located. It is said that the Dorothea Van Dyke House was set aside for such community activities, once being used as an Italian-American Sportsmen's Club. Essentially, the Community Center collects. It stores information on agencies and clubs for the interested, thoughts of what should be instituted in Princeton, and accomplishments of overlooked committees and commissions.

The goal of the Center is to erase or harmonize the discord that now exists between adults, teens, and children. Through material productions (Browse Room, information section, and fall seminar) the Center hopes to generate Princetonians into wanting to become involved.

Stars in its eyes? Maybe. Then again it could work if you participate. Why are people afraid to become involved? Our times are full of "give and take" experiences. But the reward from getting involved does not jingle in one's pocket. Participation does not repay volunteers with plaques. Deeds glisten in the memories of those who did them. Think of the good deeds you have done. How many more can you do? Are you willing to get involved?

BUSINESS In Princeton

PLUS SIGNS DOMINATE
In Latest Business Index, one of its strongest showings over the past several quarters, TOWN TOPICS' business index for the three months' period ending June 30 registered gains in 13 out of the 15 categories, in comparison with the preceding quarter.

The only areas to show a drop were telephones in service down a slight four percent, and this is up six percent in comparison with last year, and new car sales.

New car sales fell nine percent from the first quarter and more than 52 percent from the same period last year, continuing downward trend.

Construction figures, which always show an increase from the cold months in the initial quarter, registered significant gains in both municipalities. Building permits were up 28 percent in the Borough and 25 percent in the Township.

Value of building permits took huge jumps also. The Borough's was mainly attributable to the start of construction on Spellman Hall, the University dormitory complex.

The figures on funds flowing in and out of the town's four financial institutions showed their usual upsurge pattern. Savings, which have rarely gone down, checking accounts, which posted the first gain, and loans, were up three, eight and seven percent, respectively. The percentage increase in the yearly comparison is the best in many quarters for these three categories.

Parking meter receipts and postal receipts also posted small gains. Third quarter figures will be hard pressed to maintain the pace.

STATE INDICATORS UP

As Economy Improves, Ronald M. Heymann, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry, has announced that many key business barometers of the State's economy continued to improve in June, according to the current issue of "New Jersey Economic Indicators." This is the Department's analysis of business conditions published monthly by its Division of Planning and Research.

Commissioner Heymann said, "While job expansion still lags that in the nation, the leading labor market indicators were encouraging. As usually happens in June, both employment and unemployment rose. However, the increase in the unemployment rate was slightly less than the usual June rise."

Retail Sales Rise. A very favorable outlook for the construction industry was reflected in nearly all indicators of planned construction, despite some disappointment in activity since the spring because of bad weather. Bank debits, retail sales and electric power sales continue to rise.

New business incorporations have been steady at a record level this year. Business failures dropped sharply in June, after rising somewhat in earlier months.

The lag in the State's job expansion behind the nation can be attributed to the failure of the factory sector to pull out of its recessionary lull, according to the monthly report. In the first half of this year, nonmanufacturing jobs were 2.1 percent above a year ago in the State and 2.7 percent in the nation. But, at the same time, factory jobs were down 3.2 percent in the State and up 0.7 percent nationally.

Rising employment in the months ahead is indicated by most of the indexes of labor demand, the report stated. The average factory work week, at 11.5 hours in June, has fully recovered from its recession decline. Factory job openings in May numbered six per 1,000 employees, or double the rate of six months earlier. And the accession rate among manufacturers rose to 40 additions per 1,000 workers in May from 35 per 1,000 workers a year ago.

Weather Unfavorable. Construction activity, as measured by employment, remained somewhat sluggish in June, according to the report, partly because of adverse weather. Contract construction employment in the State was estimated at 116,209 in June or about 5,000 below a year ago. However, planned construction, as reflected in contract awards, augers well for the industry. For the first five months, residential awards were 74 percent ahead of a year ago, while both nonresidential and heavy engineering awards were up 42 percent.

Bank debits rose in June almost reaching April's all-time high. For the first half of 1972 this measure of checkbook spending was a healthy 14 percent ahead of a year ago, reported the monthly analysis. The State's retail sales were up 6 percent for the first four months from the same period in 1971.

New business incorporations in the first half held at a record plateau 7.4 percent above the first half of 1971. Business failures dropped sharply in June; the first-half seasonally adjusted total was 224 compared with 228 a year ago.

ASK FOR NEW BANK

In West Windsor, thirty community leaders in West Windsor have applied for a state charter to form the new West Windsor State Bank.

At present, the township's banking facilities are confined to a branch of the First National Bank of Princeton and a branch of Nassau Savings and Loan. The new bank, if the state grants the charter, would be the first home-office bank in West Windsor.

As such, it would be protected by the state law that prohibits establishment of any additional branches in a community like West Windsor, until the population reaches 7,500. The most recent estimate, made by the Department of Labor and Industry, was in July, 1971, showing a population of 6,995.

Incorporators have subscribed to $750,000 worth of stock at $10 per share. Among the incorporators, with the amounts they subscribed, are John F. Hadden ($25,000), superintendent of the West Windsor Plainsboro Regional School District; Malcolm Roszel ($12,500), former mayor of West Windsor; William L. Bunting Jr. ($25,000), magistrate of West Windsor; C. Bergen Groendyke ($15,000), auditor.

Also Paul Ashton, ($12,500) an owner of the Thorne Pharmacy; Lewis D. Coleman ($50,000), owner of Coleman Oldsmobile; R. Earl Coleman ($25,000), owner of Coleman Buick; John A. Ellsworth ($50,000), liquor store owner; Wallace W. McLean, ($25,000), owner of McLean Engineering Laboratories; John DiPolyvere ($50,000), dentist; Carl Gelger ($50,000), developer; C. Lawrence Dey ($37,500), farmer; Michael C. Greschak ($50,000), former school board president, and an executive at ROA.

The New Jersey Banking Department has scheduled hearings for October 3, 4 and 5.

AN EARLY START

For Freshmen at Westminster. While most New Jersey students are spending their summer at play or working to pay for next year's tuition, a group of minority students are studying together at Westminster Choir College, preparing themselves academically for the fall semester.

They are involved in a unique summer program that is financed by the State through the Educational Opportunity Fund. This program helps entering freshmen to better meet the academic challenges of college life, and returning students to make up academic deficiencies, and provides a program of cultural enrichment and individual and group counseling.

ment and individual and group counseling.

"It's been very worthwhile," remarked James Ruffin of Newark. "I've really been challenged and I feel much more prepared academically to meet the requirements of college."

The students and their counselors live together in a single dorm and take their meals together at the College Commons. This provides for the entering freshmen a first taste of college life, making it easier to adjust once the rush of the year begins. Although there are specific times set aside in the schedule for group interaction, much of the counseling, which seeks to help the student think in a more analytical manner and to face squarely some of the academic and cultural problems he will meet in college, takes place in the midst of this group experience.

New Experiences Offered.

Besides the academic preparation and counseling that the program provides, there is an attempt to broaden both the musical and general cultural preparation of the students. This is accomplished by introducing them to cultural activities that under normal circumstances they would not have the opportunity to experience.

The program is under the supervision of Turner Battle II, associate professor of social studies and assistant director of the Educational Opportunity Fund at Westminster. Commenting on the success of the program, Mr. Battle says, "The program is perhaps best judged by the fact that the students now have a different attitude toward the whole academic process than they did when they entered it at the beginning of the summer. And they certainly are enjoying a more sophisticated level of learning."

WHERE... WHERE ELSE...

But at Country Antiques you find

Boxes—some painted and some natural with original hinges; varied sizes; smallish—for papers and personal treasures (not blanket chest size).

Stoneware and redware—cups and jugs from Penna., N. Y., and all ways, N. J. A few utilitarian ones for household use (even these are being reproduced today).

A number of musical instruments including a 1900 banjo mandolin and a trombone of excellent quality.

Hand painted miniature enamel on copper of George II, actually dated with initials and 1736. Very special!

Some newly acquired signed and dated hand made quilts.

A number of exquisite fans including one belonging to Maria Theresa (would like to sell as a collection).

SEA CHEST—Would the lady to whom, about 5 years ago, we sold a small pine sea chest, consider letting us buy it back at 3 times her original purchase price? It had rope handles and a primitive painting inside the lid. It was a family piece and we should not have sold it.

PEANUT BUTTER
Once pure and undiluted, is now full of hydrogenated fats (liquid fats turned to solid to delay rancidity), a prime cholesterol raiser and cause of heart disease. It also contains emulsifiers (to prevent oil separation) which caused retarded growth, liver damage, thickened bladder walls, diarrhea, blood in feces, and premature death in animals. Sugar or dextrose is also added to preserve and prevent separation. The alternative—good old fashioned peanut butter made from only peanuts and salt is down at the Whole Earth Center, 350 Nassau Street, 924-7377 Open 10-6, Monday through Saturday

ONCE UPON A TIME—just a year ago—a young family purchased a house and set to work. They began by waterproofing the basement so even Agnes couldn't harm it and installed a humidifier. On the first floor they framed all the doorways, installed chair rails in the dining room and enclosed the laundry. Then, outside, they paved the driveway, installed new walks and planted shrubs and flowers. They were very happy with their perfect house—then they were transferred to Texas! This newest listing has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, carpeted family room with fireplace—and a very happy ending for you! Priced in the high 40's

Call or come in for more information on these and many other choice listings.

PLENTY OF PARKING IN FRONT OF THE OFFICE

A house is not a home . . . unless there is something especially unique about it being there. Perhaps it's a double living room with fireplaces, or a great central foyer, or a wide angle boy dining room flooded with light, or, perhaps it's the informality of a rustic kitchen family room that conveys a sense of being lived in. Five huge bedrooms and two baths on the second floor could accommodate a big family. And just maybe two little girls could make the third floor two bedrooms into a doll house. Come and see this home in the middle of Princeton Borough . . . it's real.

Summer Program at Community House Nears Successful Conclusion

More than 100 black Princeton kids are currently participating in the summer program at Community House, a project started by Princeton University students and supported by Princeton community interest.

For a period of eight weeks, ending this Friday, elementary and Middle-School students have been learning drama, dance, art, science, communications, black history, cooking and crafts. Reading is also being taught and a two-week stay at the University Camp at Blairstown is an integral part of the summer program.

The Community House idea began four years ago with seven Princeton University undergraduates who had commitments to community action. It started as an at-home tutorial program with six elementary and Middle School students, and has since expanded into its present quarters at 166 Witherspoon Street. About 120 young people participate in the program during the school year and the summer program overflows daily into the Princeton Youth Center.

During the school-year, the Community House program involves upper-grade elementary and Middle-School students in a series of workshops after school.

Start with 5-year olds. The summer segment of the program enrolls youngsters from 5 through 14, and continues the workshop approach in cultural and learning activities.

"TO MAKE AN APPLE TART begin by . . ." Missy Scudder, 15, reads the recipe while Kotakoli tribe members at Community House (around table in foreground) Rhonna Yates, 10; (Missy) Pamela Singleton, 9; and Wanda Morris, 10; get to work dicing and peeling. Kathy Wright, 22, instructs and Lakoy Broadway, 9, makes the crust. Back row cooks are: (left to right) Grace Stokes, 10; Priscilla Smith, 10; Norma Robbins, 10; and Kyle Stephens, 7.

Youngsters are grouped into six tribes each of which spends 50 minutes daily in some of the workshops. Tribal membership, according to Fred Tyler, a 1972 university graduate who is resident director of the program, fosters a sense of cultural identity.

Membership in the Ashanti, namesake of a West African tribe, is held by nine 5 and 6 year-olds. Nine 6 and 7 year-olds are Imani, the Swahili term for unity.

The Kotakoli (West African) numbers nine girls, ages 8 to 11. Nine 8 and 9-year old boys belong to the Kikuyu (East African). The Yoruba tribe (West African) has eight 10 and 11-year-old boys. Membership in the Ujman, the Swahili term for collective responsibility, is held by 24 boys and girls who are 12 to 14 years old.

The drama workshop recently had the Imani tribe absorbed in the tale of the evil dragon. "Can a dragon swim?" asked one 6-year-old boy. Under the tutelage of George Buy, a Princeton sophomore, the story had progressed through many phases as one Imani after the other added embellishments. Thinking to rid the world finally of the monster, the 6-year-old put him into the sea, only to have the perplexing and unanswerable question occur to him.

What's for Lunch? On another day, the pungent aroma wafting through Community House came from a pot stirred by Kenny Starks, 10, Yoruba tribesman who attends John Witherspoon School. It contained oregano, garlic, tomato paste, onions and hamburger, combined in a sauce to serve over spaghetti for lunch.

Supervising was Kathy Wright, a Rutgers University senior majoring in Sociology and Early Childhood Education. Assisting were Missy Scudder, 11th grader from Princeton High School and Shawn Craig, who will be attending the high school this fall.

The summer segment of the Community House program employs 16 University graduates and undergraduates, in addition to Kathy Wright, and 15 Princeton High School students.

The program is designed to permit undergraduate students to serve internships in it and to promote graduating university seniors with internship experience into leadership positions.

Of the original seven initiators, Len Brown, Class of '71, is now director of the summer camp in Blairstown, N.J. and Cary Hoachlander, '70, last year's camp director, is this summer's administrative assistant to John G. Danielson, Assistant Dean of Students and Coordinator of the University Summer Camp.

Time at Camp. Community House sends four groups of about 20 youngsters for two-week stays at the Blairstown

A SAVAGE PLAY
"What the Butler Saw." "A savage play which questions our most cherished beliefs... unorthodox, outrageous and almost terrifying in its mad rush..."

That's what Summer Intime is telling us about What the Butler Saw. Joe Orton's comedy of manners. It will open this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre as the fourth and last play in Summer Intime's series of repertory offerings.

Dan Berkowitz will play a mad psychiatrist and Williams Hookins will be his eccentric colleague. Shirley Kauffman will make a guest appearance, and resident Summer Intime company members Alice White, John Vennema and Richard Ferrugio will complete the cast. Larry Strichman is directing.

Performances will be given this Friday and Saturday, also at 8:30, and Sunday at 7:30 and again August 17, 18, 19 and 20.

AND FAIRBANKS SR.
In Film Revivals, Busby Berkeley, Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Cary Grant are the unlikely headliners in Summer Intime's next three summer film revivals.

"Dames," Busby Berkeley's 1931 musical extravaganza, will be screened next Monday, August 14. The following evening, it will be "Rhinoceros," made in 1922 with Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and regarded as his greatest swashbuckler. The final film, to be shown next Wednesday, August 16, will be "Only Angels Have Wings," the Cary Grant starring vehicle, for which Director Howard Hawks received as much applause as the star. It will bring Intime's summer film series to a close.

All films are shown in the art museum on the University campus, an air-conditioned site. Screening time is 8 p.m.

ALVIN AILEY BOOKED
For Trenton Appearance, The Princeton Ballet Society has concluded arrangements with Columbia Artists Management in New York to bring the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater to the War Memorial in Trenton for a matinee performance on Sunday, October 8.

The Ailey company, founded in 1958, has played to packed houses on its tours throughout Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and America. The company's return to New York's City Center last year prompted a large advance sale of tickets than any event in that theatre's history.

Audree Estey, director of the Ballet Society, said that presenting the Ailey troupe in the 2,000-seat War Memorial theatre is part of the Society's commitment to provide the growing audience of central Jersey with easy accessibility to major dance events.

The decision to sponsor the Ailey company in Trenton was the result of the sell-out response to the Batsheva Dance Company of Israel, which the Ballet Society presented at the War Memorial theatre on its first American tour in 1970, and to the Princeton Regional Ballet Company's annual classic, "The Nutcracker," which was taken to Trenton for the first time last December for two performances.

 Play at Clinton Theatre. With a double bill by Elaine May and Terence McNally, the Clinton Summer Theatre moves into its next round of vacation entertainment.

The theatre, at 23 W. Main Street, Clinton, is located in the Old Music Hall two blocks east of the Clinton-Pittstown Exit off I-78. Reservations may be made at 201-735-3625.

"Adaptation Next" is the title of the double offering. It's been booked for next Wednesday, August 16, through Sunday, August 20 with performances at 8:30 (7:30 Sundays).

"Adaptation Next" played off-Broadway for more than two years. Its first half, "Adaptation," is by Elaine May and it looks at the whole cycle of a man's life in the format of a TV quiz program. "Next," by Terence McNally examines the Army through the eyes of a 40-year-old failure who finds he's been drafted.

Meanwhile, "The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd" will continue through this Sunday.

For children, the Clinton Summer Theatre will give "Annabelle Broom, the Unhappy Witch", in a 2 p.m. performance Saturday, August 19.

PRINCE THEATRE
 Frenzy (now playing) is a stirring triumph for director Alfred Hitchcock, providing unquestionable proof that the old master has reacquired his deft touch with a horror story.

Filmed in London, the story revolves around a couple of old RAF buddies and the rapemurders of several women that are plaguing the city. Hitchcock lets the movie audience in on who the killer is early in the film, and the suspense centers on how he will trip himself up.

Two or three of the scenes will be long remembered as Hitchcock at his best. An eight-minute episode in the office of one of the victim's (her fate is sealed the moment her surprise visitor closes the door behind him) offers the last movie word in strangulation. Once Hitchcock is through, he never has to show the grisly act again.

Then, there is the fantastic "potato sack scene" wherein the killer in the back of a fast moving truck, is desperately trying to find the corpse he has hidden in one of the sacks, digging through the dusty potatoes until he finds a foot, then a leg, then...

Although Frenzy has its grim moments, Hitchcock as usual has interjected some extremely comic parts to relieve the

All in all, Frenzy is a film that definitely measures up to some of the earlier Hitchcock masterpieces such as Rear Window or Psycho.

 Cabaret (now playing) Liza Minnelli in her star-making musical.

She is tough yet poignant, sophisticated yet naive in her portrayal of the kooky American girl who sings in one of Berlin's cellar cabarets and befriends a shy writer who lives in the same seedy boarding house. The year is 1931, and the Kit Kat Klub draws a sybaritic audience with its sleazy routines, while outside hoodlums who call themselves Nazis are beginning to make inroads.

The movie is vintage vinegar, with first rate performances from Joel Gray, the mincing master of ceremonies; Michael York as a young, bisexual Englishman, and by Helmut Griem, Fritz Wepper and Marisa Berenson. Miss Minnelli is a beguiling girl, and in her musical numbers, particularly spellbinding.

several years ago, and goes back to the original Christopher Isherwood "Berlin Stories" and the John Van Druten play, "I Am A Camera," adapted from the stories. There's a hilarious tea party scene. The musical numbers are brilliantly staged.

PLAYHOUSE

A Clockwork Orange (now playing) may strain your intellect, imagination and sensibilities, not necessarily in that order, but there is no denying that producer-director Stanley Kubrick ("2001") has conceived an unique theatrical experience.

The controversy surrounding this X-rated picture is brought about by Kubrick's frank filming of scenes of sex and violence. The latter, especially, has been labeled as particularly brutal by some. However, Kubrick is not interested in merely exploiting the two, but blending them in as an integral part of his film.

In a "Clockwork Orange," Kubrick once again ventures into the future, this time into the streets of a welfare society at a time when teenage violence has taken over. The protagonist, Malcolm McDowell, is an unusually vicious young hoodlum, who leads a bunch of other droogs on gang fights, rapes, and muggings.

When society finally decides that he should pay for a murder he committed, he is put into a rehabilitation program, which transforms him into someone completely turned off by violence and sex. Released a day back on the streets he is at the mercy of his former gang members and victims, but eventually returns to his former state.

Novelist Anthony Burgess, who wrote the work from which the film is closely adapted, devised a special slang for his characters, which is retained by Kubrick in the screenplay. Viewers hearing this for the first time may have difficulty understanding the Russian basis for the language, and the sound track can be difficult to follow.

Kubrick's use of color in the film makes it become entwined with the violence and sexuality. Reds and deep oranges abound, deep in saturation and hue. Sound, too, becomes inextricably tied to color; through the use of classical works to which synthesizers are used, adding another dimension.

"A Clockwork Orange" made virtually every critic's "best film list," and was selected as the best picture by the New York Film Critics. This is not to say, however, that many won't find it confusing. But for those who won't be immediately put off by the sex and violence, it should be worthwhile to see what you make of it.

IT'S NEW To Us

A GIFT TO TREASURE
From Kalen's. A novelist once said, "You don't know people by what they say, but by what they do." And if what you are doing is searching for a gift that will speak truly for you, we suggest that you browse Kalen's.

Kalen's Fine Arts, a corner shop on Palmer Square near the Playhouse, provides eloquent offerings of the craftsmen's art of both the present and the past. We were as enchanted with a small Hummel music box at $4.50 as we were with the exotic butterflies poised in clear lucite boxes ($21 to $40), and the silk rug from mainland China.

There are a number of bronze objects from Thailand, brought back by the Kalens from their recent trip to the Orient. Among them an unusual pewter vase about two feet high, with a graceful line of brass floral trim over the curving side. The collection includes two fascinating boxes, one the shape of a turtle, another a fish, both lacquered with gold leaf.

A contemporary artist represented at Kalen's is Balint Kramlik, a Hungarian who has settled in Hamilton Township. He is reviving an old art, hand-painted porcelain tiles, and is much in demand by collectors who are loath to see a great craft disappear.

Mr. Kramlik is a nature lover, and his themes are lush, richly toned floral arrangements and delicate, elegant bird paintings. He mixes his porcelains in his basement, forms 8-inch by 11-inch white tiles approximately one quarter of an inch thick. His work is frequently framed. There are, in all, 30 designs. The A tile is $250, or framed $269.

Music Boxes. Another craft,

"GOD ON BIRD," a 19th Century bronze from Thailand, is on display this week at Kalen's Fine Arts, Palmer Square, where a new collection of antique Oriental bronzes has just arrived. The statuette is about 26-inches tall, including the base.

music boxes, has been explored in depth at Kalen's. The music boxes for men are very unusual, lightly tuneful, and a tacit reminder that a streak of youthful whimsy stays with us all of our days. One of the boxes is a very posh model of a Rolls Royce touring car. Pull back the roof, and there is a velvet-lined jewelry box inside. Choose the Cadillac, if you prefer . . . or the fire extinguisher . . . or leather-bound books . . . or the horse shoe . . . or the simple wooden box with a metal golf bag on the lid . . . or the sleek, low box of fine-grained wood.

Music boxes for children are a full range from boxes with merry-go-round figures on the lid, to small chests of drawers and tiny grand pianos. For women, a heart-shaped music box, perhaps, or a musical alarm clock. Some of the music boxes play four tunes.

Lucite desk sets at Kalen's are a new development. In near-black on clear bases are such items as a double pen holder, a letter file, a pencil or eyeglass holder. The styling is very contemporary, and the airiness of the lucite gives the illusion of space.

For a hostess, clear lucite flower holders — a close banding of hundreds of lucite tubes, one for each flower stem or spray of fern. There are several sizes; the medium, about 10 or 12 inches tall is $7.50.

Possies. This brings us to flowers themselves, and Kalen's is showing some beauties made of silk, others of wood, and others of porcelain and finely wired glass beads. You can make up your own bouquet, if you wish, and choose your own container.

Some of the beaded flowers come in tiny pots or buy them singly. We noticed small, misty baby's breath and long-stemmed daffodils. Among the porcelain are daisies that you wouldn't believe were hand-crafted, and rosebuds and carnations.

On another tack, we found antique Japanese statuary, table-top size, and hand warmers for present-day use as flower containers. Among them a fairly large one inlaid with mother-of-pearl and copper-lined.

As we browsed around, we noticed copies of old French clocks (when the rooster looks ahead it is a pre-revolutionary design; when he looks behind it is post-revolution). There are address and travel books, nicely covered in good leathers; cache pots for the flowers and ferns that will be brought indoors in another month or so; The choice of size is quite extensive, as well as styling, from a plain white pot with a basket weave look, to a green accented design of overlapping leaves.

From Nature. The butterflies are sheer exotica. All are from the tropics, dazzlingly colorful, with wings spread as though alighting for the merest fraction of a second in between flights. Each is enclosed in a clear lucite box.

There is the Atlas moth from Burma, the Blue Star from Brazil, Raja Brooks' Birdwing from Malaysia, a brown and white Rice Paper, and, under a lid with an inset magnifying glass, a lovely specimen of golds, whites and browns. Prices range from $21 to $41.

Browsing further, "Count None But Sunny Hours" on the darkened brass face of a sun dial; unusual crystal from Sweden (rough-sided, tall vases); a realistic ceramic basket filled with ceramic eggs; rough, natural alabaster rock holding hand made porcelain

They think that wood furni-brass lamps of brass, and that plastic is best restricted

SUMMER SEASON BUSY

At Stuart Country Day. A variety of activities has kept Stuart Country Day School open and alive since classes ended last spring.

Children, teenagers and adults have all used the campus of Stuart for most of the summer of '72. Activities ranged from a play group for young children to arts and music courses which included adults.
The YWCA also used the recreation fields and gymnasium for its summer day camp.

Two enterprising Stuart June graduates, Gina Murray and Peggy Young, conducted the play group for children, ages 2 1/2 to 6. There were four two-week sessions held from 9:30 to noon. In addition to games, stories and supervised play,
the children were offered elementary arts and crafts.

The Stuart Summer Program, coordinated by Mrs.
Fay Kallina, included arts and music and some enrichment courses as well as the unique "two students to one instructor" tutorial program.
This year the program received accreditation and was even more successful than last summer.

In June, the YWCA day camp began its fourth consecutive summer on the Stuart campus. The hikes through Stuart's rock strewn woods often ended in a cook-out before the campers returned to the Y for a swim in the pool.

$1 MILLION GIVEN

To Institute. The Institute for Advanced Study has received a $1 million gift to endow a professorship from the 1907 foundation, which is supported by the United Parcel Service. UPS was founded in 1907.

The gift completes the Institute's program of raising $2 million from non-governmental sources, according to Harold F.
Linder, chairman of the Institute's board of trustees. The program meets the terms of a matching grant of $1.5 million from the Ford Foundation.

The 1907 Foundation professorship will be used for the study of the functioning of industrial societies. The new social science program will complement the other areas for which the Institute is already known — pure mathematics, theoretical physics and history.

When the chair is filled,
and at least one other professor is appointed, the program will become a school in the Institute along with the present schools of historical studies, mathematics and natural sciences.

The growth of the new school will require additional funding, Mr. Linder said. He pointed out that at least $5 million more is needed to permit the school to reach its planned scale on a funding basis comparable to that of the three existing schools.

The Institute was founded in 1930 by a gift from Louis
Bamberger and his sister, Mrs. Felix Fuld. The Institute presently has 27 permanent professors and more than 10 visiting scholars.

JOIN BOHEN CAMPAIGN

For Congress. Fred Bohlen of Princeton, who won the chance to run for Congress in the new Fifth Congressional District in a three-way Democratic primary contest last June, gained some new support this week.

Archibald S. Alexander Sr., of Bernardsville, and Mayor Frank R. Nero of North Plainfield have agreed to serve as co-chairmen of the Fred Bohlen for Congress Committee.

Former Democratic Governor Richard J. Hughes and Assemblywoman Ann Klein, Morris County, have already been appointed co-chairmen.

Mr. Bohlen is running against Incumbent Peter H. B. Freling-huysen for the Congressional seat. Princeton became part of Congressman Frelinghuysen's district under New Jersey's recent re-districting.

Mr. Alexander held several posts under President Harry S.
Truman, was state treasurer for New Jersey under Governor Robert Meyner and is now chairman of the board of governors of Rutgers. His son is

ALL-STARS ELIMINATED
In Tournament at Trenton.
A 5-4 loss to Kinnelon Monday in the Police Athletic League Baseball Tournament eliminated Princeton from the event, being held in Trenton. The Princetonians had entered the 26-team field as the defending champions.

An initial loss to Willingboro, 4 to 1, was followed by victories over Wayne, 10-6;
Hamilton, 9-4, and Spotswood, 3-2. When it was defeated by Kinnelon, Princeton was one of six teams remaining in the annual event.

Unable to collect more than two hits in its first appearance in the tournament, Princeton lost to Willingboro when the victors broke up a 1-1 game with three in their half of the fifth. John Boccanfuso pitched well but got little support at the plate. Jon Miller scored the only Princeton run when he walked in the third and came around on singles by Boccanfuso and Tom Ferguson.

Good relief pitching by John Miller and a three-run pinch

homer by Carl Nazzaro sewed up the 10-6 triumph over Wayne, which saw the Princetonians rally twice to regain the lead. They began with three runs in the top of the first but starting pitcher Morgan Mohrman yielded four when Wayne came to bat.

Boccanfuso and Bruno Perna then doubled in the top of the second to bring Princeton even but Wayne scored again to take a 5-4 lead, with Miller replacing Mohrman in this round. Tony Opperman's double and Miller's two-out single knotted the score at 5 all midway through the contest.

Hits by Ferguson, Perna

Physical Exams Set

Physical examinations for all Princeton High School fall athletic teams have been scheduled for later this month.

Boys cross country and soccer and all girls should report to the school at 9 a.m. Monday, August 28, football players at 9 a.m., Tuesday, August 29. All prospective candidates ninth through 12th grades are encouraged to report.

Football equipment will be distributed to all football players in grades 10, 11 and 12 immediately after their examination.

of the fourth, but Wayne narrowed the gap to 7-6 in the last of that round. Nazzaro's homer, the victors' tenth hit, then provided all the necessary insurance, with Miller holding the losers scoreless in their last time at bat.

A 1-1 game against Hamilton through the regulation six innings was broken up by the Princetonians on the strength of an eight-run outburst in the top of the seventh. Fourteen players batted in the big inning, during which the victors hit safely eight times. A three-run rally by the losers was of no avail in the last of the seventh, as Boccanfuso picked up the triumph.

Princeton's third victory was recorded Sunday against Spotswood as Manager John O'Neill's team did all its scoring in the first and made the three runs stand up when Miller yielded only single markers in the third and sixth. A double by Boccanfuso, three walks, Bobby Cranin's single and another two-base blow by Mohrman, this one with three aboard, produced the victors' runs.

Two double plays helped Miller keep Spotswood in check, the losers narrowing the margin in the final inning when they scored on a dropped fly ball. Princeton outlasted Hamilton, 7-6, and totalled 30 hits in the first 24 innings it played.
Against Kinnelon, Princeton was riding along on a 4-1 margin with two innings to go when the opposition erupted for four runs. A two-run first produced much more had not the losers fanned with the bases loaded.

Boccanfuso was the losing pitcher, despite a home run he contributed to the attack.
Mike Perna, George Pierre, Tom Everson and Alex Bartollino serve as coaches under Manager O'Neill. The team is sponsored by the Princeton Motor Lodge.

ROMA ETERNA UNBEATEN
As It Wins PYRA Title. The Princeton Youth Baseball Association season ended last week as the 1972 champion, Roma Eterna, finished its season undefeated. Coached by Craig Wood, Roma became the first team in six years to complete its 14 game schedule without a loss.

The champions rolled to an easy triumph in their final contest when Carl Nazzaro pitched a no-hitter against Engine Co. No. 1 and his teammates backed him up with 20 runs in a second game listed for the final week, the Italian-

American Sportsmen's Club picked up a forfeit from Engine Co. No. 3, helping it earn a fifth-place tie in the final standings.

The fourth-place Eagles ac-chieved a major upset in their last game, upending runner-up Hook and Ladder, 8 to 2.
John Silverman hurled a two-hitter as his mates got all eight runs in one big inning when the opposing pitcher Charles Waaben, lost his control. A bases-loaded triple by Troy Pappas and a single by Warren Gross were the big blows in the Eagles' attack.
Waaben's two-run homer saved Hook and Ladder from being shut out.

In the other game during the final week, the Elks were leading Post 76, 4-2, in the fourth when their pitcher, Tony Op-perman, left the game with a sore arm. Post 76 then rallied for a 7-4 triumph. Bobby Cran-

France, which finished with 624 points. Challenging France was Italy with a final score of 613.

England, the team which started the season in first place, finished fifth with 596 points. Tied for sixth place were Sweden and Canada, with tallies of 565, while Germany completed the matches with a 489 record.

Vera Jesser and Hugo Walter of the Brazil team were high scorers, compiling totals of 132 and 130. Taking top honors for their team were Gary Stern and Evan Press of Mexico, 97 points; Simeon Hunter of France, 84 points; Dan Amarel on Italy's team, 80; England's Steve Ebersole with 96; David Meyerhofer for Sweden, 71; Raymond Kang of Canada, 88; and Andrew Hildick-Smith, who played for Germany, 56.

The Davis Cup League is a popular feature of the Princeton Community Tennis Program's summer session. It affords those enrolled in the Silver and Gold Cup advanced classes an opportunity to develop their skills in informal, supervised competition twice a week.

According to Joe Diefenbach, the director of the Davis Cup this summer, in seven weeks a total of more than 5,000 individual games were played.

Every member on Brazil's winning team received a tennis shirt with the team name. The high scorer for each team was awarded a similar shirt.

August Session Set. Even though formal Davis Cup play has finished, for the next three weeks Diefenbach will conduct supervised ladder matches and practice games for all Silver and Gold Cuppers who are still enrolled in lessons. Classes for advanced students are being held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday through August 25, with extra practice sessions Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Instruction continues for tennis players of all ability levels. Those interested in enrolling should report directly to the courts. Beginners may contact R. A. Zorzi at Community Park, while intermediate and advanced students should sign up with Diefenbach at the University's Pagoda Courts.

DOUBLES TITLE WON

climber, Marce Schacht, 23-5, led by Jim Morris' four hits, and home runs by Aug Vasti, Barry Bromell and Morris. In a make-up game, McGraw-Hill must have broken all records for runs and hits, when it destroyed GFDL, 45-9.

In other games, Hopewell TV nipped Firmenich, 5-4, as Joe Castora, Barry Hibbs and Pete Savalli collected two hits apiece. Bob Dudgeon and Bob Ochrie had four hits each to lead ERC to a 12-3 rout of Forstal. Mike Angles and Bob Heinz had three hits each. Shearer Tree walloped RCA, 22-3. Cities Service outslugged GFDL, 15-12; and in another make-up contest, FMC beat Shearer Tree, 13-2.

SHOWDOWN NEARS For RCA A, ETS. Still deadlocked last week with 10-3 records, RCA A and ETS will meet the final week in the regular season on August 22 in a game which may well decide first place. Both have games to play before the crucial contest, however, and an upset is always a possibility. Also, Forrestal and even ERC are still in the race.

RCA A came within a hair of being upset by last place NALPC last week, coming from behind to capture a 10-3 decision. NALPC, playing one of its best games of the season, had two men on and one run in the final inning when RCA cut the rally short. Murry Wood's three-run homer in the first inning helped the winners to an early lead. ETS, meanwhile, beat FMC, 13-6, eliminating the losers from contention in the west.

By Junior Tennis Players. Princeton was strongly represented in the Lehigh Valley District Junior Championships held last week at the Oakmont Tennis Club in Allentown. Although no players from this area won division events, several scored upsets or fared well against top players, and three reached the semi-finals.

In the boy's 14-and-under singles, unseeded Dan Scudman upset both the fifth seed, Drew Robinson, in the third round by a score of 6-1, 6-4, and third seeded Craig Marshall, 1-6, 6-0, 6-4. In the semi-finals, Dan was defeated by unseeded Junior Gray 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 who went on to win the event. In the same division, eighth seeded Keith Usiskit was upset in the third round by an unseeded player.

A second Princeton player to reach the semi-finals was Jim Parmele. Having upset second seeded Andy Flor, 7-5, 6-1, in the second round, Jim advanced to the semi-finals by defeating James McQuire, 6-2, 6-3, in the quarter final match. In the semis, unseeded Mark Pindus who went on to win the tournament, defeated Jim 6-0, 6-2.

Libby Hicks of Lawrenceville also reached the semi-finals, where she was defeated 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, in the girl's 14-and-under event.

In the girl's 18-and-under category, Randy Gullek lost to first seeded Jan Bloodworth.

In the first round, the score, 6-2, 7-6, is significant in that no other player took as many games from Jan. the eventual winner, Natalie Usiskin, seeded third in the girls' 16-and-under, lost in the second round to the runner-up in the event.

Other Princeton entries were Andre Eichenberger, Fred Berkelhammer and Sue Hurley.

ANDY'S WINS FIRST

In Adult Softball League, Harrison Athletic Club, which has a history in football as well as baseball, of blowing crucial games, needed to secure a spot in post-season playoffs, did it again last week, handing Andy's Tavern its first win in 12 games.

IAC coach Bob Smyth could only shake his head in disbelief after Andy's 9-4 triumph, which dealt a severe blow to IAC's playoff hopes for this season. Andy's took a 5-3 lead into the seventh inning, and led the contest with a four-run rally. Bob Ellis went three for three at the plate for Andy's.

Teague & Hinds rebounded from their 6-1 loss to Nassau-Conover Motors by defeating 1st place Ivy Inn 6-5. Ivy pushed across three runs in the first inning on three hits and two Teague miscues. Teague's responded with a big four run fourth inning and took a 5-3 lead into the fifth inning.

After padding their lead with one tally in the fifth, Ivy charged back with two in their half of the fifth behind hits by Tom DeVito, Doug Watson and Larry McHugh. The last two innings produced only two hits, both by Ivy. Ivy never got a man in scoring position as DeVito was thrown out trying to go to second on a fly ball to Ray Cranston in the last inning.

Earlier in the week, Nassau-Conover handed Teague's their fifth loss of the season, 6-1. The Motormen managed six runs on only nine hits, but put six of their hits together in a five-run third inning. Hits by Ray Pelters, Bryce Chase, Joe Cimerola, Bruce Sanvich and Tom Brophy contributed to the five run spurge.

Teague's put all their scoring punch into one inning, but could only come up with four runs.

Ivy Inn made shambles of the PAC defense in a 23-9 decision Monday evening. Ivy was actually trailing through the first four innings as Princeton Athletic Club scored eight of their nine runs, in the first three innings.

Ivy came back with an eight run sixth and a six run seventh inning. The winners blasted a league high 25 hits while PAC had a respectable 14.

from a disastrous week and posted two impressive wins over Andy's Tavern 18-4 and Nassau-Conover 9-4. A six-run first and fourth innings was more than enough to subdue Andy's.

Dave Mansue went four for four for Andy's. The electricians got the most out of their 11 hits against Conover. Again the runs came in groups as a five-run second and a four-run sixth proved the difference.

Conte's Bar remained best team with the bat as they blasted Grover's Hustlers 15-6. Conte's hurler, Frank Cawley limited Grover's to four hits while the "Little Red Machine" pumped out 19.

Frank Cawley, George Cirullo, Scott Anderson, and Jack Roberts were in the middle of four and three-run first and third innings while Craig Hannas blasted a three-run round tripper in the seventh.

Grover's also had little success Monday evening as Harrison Athletic Club scored 17 runs on 24 hits to defeat the Hustlers 17-7. Grover's Hustlers had 13 safeties in a losing effort, including back to back third inning homers, by Richard McGee and Ernie Henderson. John Claghorn, the league's leading home run hitter, blasted two round trippers for HAC in a four for five effort at the plate.

Mark Tullis paced the victors with five goals, John Green adding four. For Green, Steve DelVecchio had three and Brooks Mohrman two.

In the other game, Blue jammed in four goals in the last period but still fell one short of catching Red. It was a 6-5 final, Red doing all its scoring in the first two periods. Pete McCrohan led the scoring with three for the Blue, while Don Pettit and Bob Cooper each had a pair for Red.

An exhibition game this Thursday afternoon in Marquand Park will bring the season to a close. An all-star team drawn from the Navy and Blue squads will oppose the top players from the Red and Green.

Just in the heart of Princeton's choice Brookstone area rests with dignity a white brick and shake colonial with a wrought iron balcony to remind one of the gracious days of yore! Comfortable dining room, paneled study, screened porch, efficient kitchen with dining area, utility room, and powder room amply round off the first floor. Upstairs features four corner bedrooms, one a master with dressing area and bath, a hall bath, and oops... there's a separate staircase leading to an entire suite of bedroom and bath.
